The Great Reputation

Which Vegetine has acquired in all parts of the country as a

Great and Good Medicine,

is based upon the virtues which are from time to time developed in its operations in curing the various and complicated diseases and ailments to which the human system is subject.

Vegetine is the only medicine of which it can truly be said, that it is in every family, and at least every other person using it. Its ingredients are composed of roots, barks and herbs, each one of which is known to the medical profession as containing the best blood purifying properties of any vegetable in the world.

Per Order of Com.

August 2d, 1877.

The Class composed of Springfield, Winn, Mattawamkeag [illegible], at the Town Hall in Springfield, SATURDAY, the first day of September next, at 10 A. M.

Basis—Each town and plantation is entitled to two delegates, and an additional delegate for every fifteen votes or fraction thereof cast for Gov. Connor in 1876.

EVIDENTLY NOT HAPPY.

From the tone and text of our Democratic contemporary's editorial comments on the Portland Convention we are led to infer that he did not return from his political excursion in an entirely happy frame of mind. To have a convention of full grown Democrats sit down on a person in August must inevitably be unpleasant, and our neighbor is apparently unable to command the operation with that alacrity and fervor expected of a docile organist. For the introduction of a Gubernatorial candidate by the Bangor Commercial, it strikes us that the following editorial from its last evening's issue is decidedly lacking in the evidence of exuberant enthusiasm, and we copy it as a political curiosity:

The Portland Convention.

On the third ballot in the Democratic State Convention at Portland on Tuesday, Hon. JOSEPH H. WILLIAMS, of Augusta, was nominated for Governor, receiving 250 votes out of a total of 480. The nomination was subsequently made unanimous.

We are not aware that Mr. Williams has been in any way identified with the Democratic organization of Maine for more than twenty years. The gentleman who presented his name as a candidate in the Convention, said that he voted for TILDEN AND HENDRICKS last fall.

The argument used by those who urged his nomination by the Convention was that it was necessary, at this time, to nominate a man who had not been identified with the Democratic Party in order to win votes from the Republicans. It was stoutly claimed that his nomination would win votes enough from those who have hitherto been Republicans, to give to the Democracy the four or five counties of York, Cumberland, Androscoggin, Kennebec, Somerset, Knox, Lincoln and Waldo. Should the result of the September election justify the confidence of those who were so earnest and active for Mr. Williams's nomination, the early days of next January will see him in the Gubernatorial chair supported by a Legislature which will be Democratic in either branch.

Mr. Williams is pronounced by those who know him to be a gentleman of fine scholarship and many accomplishments. His character is declared to be pure and above reproach. It is said that he has not always been in sympathy with all the radical measures of the Republican party, and that he has not uniformly acted with them since the Greeley campaign. At the present writing we do not recall any public utterances of his which will enable us to make known his position on the leading political issues of the day. His letter of acceptance will be awaited by the Democrats of Maine with an interest akin to that manifested after the nomination of Mr. Greeley in 1872.

The Resolutions of the Convention, so far as they go, will command the approval of all Democrats in the State, except those who hold that the Prohibitory Liquor Laws should not be repealed, and who therefore condemn that clause of the National Platform which opposes sumptuary laws.

COOL FOR DOG-DAYS.

The editor of the Commercial, having been beaten in the Democratic State Convention in his attempt to pass resolutions in condemnation of the prohibitory liquor law, falls back on the St. Louis Platform, which the Portland Convention re-affirmed, and in presenting "an epitome of that platform which will show what the Maine Democracy have resolved and made prominent in the present campaign," he puts in large caps this clause: "THE LIBERTY OF INDIVIDUAL CONDUCT UNVEXED BY SUMPTUARY LAWS;" and he coolly says:

The resolutions of the Convention, so far as they go, will command the approval of all Democrats in the State, except those who hold that the Prohibitory Liquor Laws should not be repealed, and who therefore condemn that clause of the National Platform which opposes sumptuary laws.

The resolutions voted down show that the Democrats refused to sustain any of the complaints made against the Republican Prohibitory legislation and acknowledged that they dared not oppose it before the people.

The Boston Globe sent a young fellow down here last fall to write egregious lies to that paper about our political canvass. We rebuked the bohemian, and he thought he had an opportunity for vengeance at the Republican Convention the other day. It may or may not please the youth to know that the important falsehoods in his report were so clumsy, his spitefulness towards us so apparent, and his unintentional admission of salient facts so conclusive, that on the whole we were better satisfied with his account than with any other that we have seen in print. Keep right on young man, your florid mendacity affords laborious tribute to the power of truth.

Does the Lewiston Journal intend to say that the Administration or its friends in this State are threatening that unless the Republicans of Maine surrender the right of free speech and silence their criticism of government policy, the former will join hands with the Democrats to defeat Selden Connor? The people of Maine have had that sort of "bull-dozing" tried on them before and they know how to meet it.

He believed that Butler, the author of the Hamburg horror, should have been hanged as high as Haman, instead of being sent to the Senate.—Speech of Hon. N. A. Farwell at Augusta.

Gen. M. C. Butler, of Hamburg, S. C., arrived here this morning and had an interview with the President this forenoon.—Boston Journal special, Aug. 15.

THE DEMOCRATIC SCRIMMAGE.

We copy from the Argus, as official Democratic authority, the following report of the lively time in the Portland Convention over the proposed rum planks for the platform. Even the mild account of the Democratic organ indicates the exceedingly "animated" character of the proceedings. The Argus report says:

Marcellus Emery, Esq., of Bangor, in behalf of a minority, composed of himself and one other member of the committee on resolutions, presented the following:

Resolved, That we condemn the various acts of the Republican Legislatures of Maine for the last twenty years, which constitute the prohibitory liquor code of the State, and demand their repeal. They are in violation of the bill of rights, the constitution, and individual liberty. Long [illegible] of turbulent experiments have demonstrated their failure to promote the cause [of temperance]. They have been a fruitful [source] of deception and fraud, and flooded our courts with perjury; have constituted a large matter in series of oppressive legislation which checked the growth of the State [population] and paralyzed its prosperity. Resolved, That we are in favor of regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors by legislation as shall be in harmony with our bill of rights and constitution, [and as] shall best promote the cause of temperance among the people.

MR. RAWSON SPEAKS.

[Mr.] Rawson of Bangor, moved that the minority report be accepted instead of that [of the] majority, and proceeded to support [the] motion by a very earnest speech. He said, shall we let other our protest [against a law] that allows the sheriff with [a] warrant, to enter our houses and search the closets and cupboards to see if perchance a bottle of liquor be kept there. I haven't found a single Democrat here today who does not heartily oppose the prohibitory law, in its practical workings. In truth this law has nothing in it to commend it to any one, save the sheriffs, whose salary is increased thereby. In Penobscot county the sheriffs have not used little way of almost openly encouraging the sale of liquor for the sale purpose of seizing it, and by so doing put a few dollars in their pockets. I have not much faith in those men who, while pretending to support the prohibitory law, come to Portland and buy rum of Mr. Blaine's agent. A majority of the citizens of Bangor are in favor of a license plank in our platform. Such resolutions as those offered by Mr. Emery will not lose the party a single vote, and will not oblige men to come to Portland to buy [rum] of Mr. Blaine's agents and to put [money into the] coffers of the Republican pa[rty] [illegible] man of which, by the way, [I am] of taking something for [illegible] sake.

MR. MASON'S [illegible]

Scarcely had Mr. Rawson [finished] on the last sentence, [when] Mr. Mason of Auburn sprang [up] and in a strong speech present[ed] [his] side of the liquor question: "It seems strange and un[illegible] me, Mr. Chairman, that e[illegible] Republican party sets a trap [for] sure to stumble into it. [illegible] resolution so urgently sup[ported] [illegible] opinion we make the greate[st] [blunder in] the history of our party. B[y] [it we] may gain a few votes. [illegible] will lose thousands elsewhere [illegible] are 17,000 reform men in [Maine] pledged to total abstinence, [three] fourths are Democrats, an[d] adoption of this resolution [will drive] the greater portion, if not all [illegible] In regard to the sheriffs [illegible] home and seizing your liquor [illegible] have any there for [illegible] all the disagreeable things [illegible] be avoided. Mr. Mason close[d] [with an] appeal to the convention [against] the resolution advocating the [repeal of the] Prohibitory law, as it was [illegible] publican organs [illegible] die, let it do so on their hand[s]. [illegible]

The question on the unani[mous] platform was taken, and by a [large] [illegible] vote, amid much applause [illegible] down, and the resolutions [were] [illegible] chairman of the committee [illegible] adopted.

Mr. Rawson remarked it [was] [evi]dent that the majority of th[e] [convention] was against the adoption of [his] report but it didn't conv[ince him] the convention was right.

Mr. Goodwin of Biddeford [present]ed the name of Hon. Fergus [of] Biddeford, as York county's [candidate for] Governor.

E. K. O'Brien, Esq., of Th[omaston, pre]sented the name of General S[amuel] [An]derson of Portland.

Gen. Anderson thanked [the convention] for the compliment, but [illegible] draw his name [illegible] words presented the name of [illegible] who he said was entitled by [illegible] the nomination.

Mr. Smith, of Augusta, p[resented] [the] claims of Hon. Joseph H. Wi[lliams of Au]gusta.

Mr. Mason of Auburn p[resented] [the] name of Dr. Alonzo Garcelon [illegible] S. D. Leavitt, Esq., of E[astport] [illegible] name of Hon. John C. Talbot [of Machias].

The names of the various ca[ndidates hav]ing been presented, the com[mittee com]menced their labors. While [illegible] loud calls were made for And[erson], [Good]win, Nickerson, Pillsbury an[d] Gen. Nickerson finally cam[e] [forward] and spoke as follows:

[GEN.] NICKERSON'S SP[EECH].

Mr. President and Gentlemen [of the Conven]tion:

For this honor I thank you. [illegible] forced to be absent from you [illegible] season, yet I have not been [illegible] you, and now am glad [to] express the satisfaction it affords me to meet [you on this] auspicious day. It seems to [me that] this day select a candidate wh[o is] destined to be our next Gov[ernor]. [The] Republican party, many of the[m thor]oughly disgusted with the acts of the present administration [illegible] the moral courage to come out. On the other hand those Repu[blicans who] are of another opinion dare [not] endorse the administration. [These] are the men who are arrayed against [illegible] in the coming campaign. Nearly every honest and true-hearted man has deserted the ranks of the Republicans. The Democratic party to-day endorses certain acts of President Hayes while they denounce the fraud by which he was elected. It remains to be seen whether his Republican friends will go for the Democratic candidate to-day, or follow in the wake of a man who begged to be spared, who claimed to be struck by the sun, and who goes before a convention and cries "peace" when the boys on the street can see through the performance.

MR. PILLSBURY'S REMARKS.

Mr. Pillsbury being called for spoke as follows:

Gentlemen—It is always pleasing to me to stand before a Democratic audience, especially when I feel in the mood to talk, but at present I must say that I never was more unprepared for an effort of this kind. But still I cannot fail to congratulate you on the brightening prospects that are rising all around our party. It is a fact that the Democratic party elected its President and Vice-President at the last election. It is also a fact that the Republican party cheated them out of the fruits of their victory. We submitted for the interests of peace. But another such crime can never safely be repeated in this country, nor will the remembrance of this ever fade away. Although the Democratic party in the interest of peace accepted the palpable fraud, yet should a similar attempt ever be made again, there will then be no 8 to 7 commission to determine it, but the people will do it by the strong arm of their power.

And then they proceeded to slaughter Talbot and the other regulars and concluded the performance by nominating Williams with the avowal that they expect the Administration Republicans to jump eagerly upon the Democratic "fraud" platform in order to defeat the Republican Party. What a noble and seductive programme!

The Southern movement was a bad piece of business, viewed from any save the extreme Southern quarter. It was and is the most awkward thing on the green earth for a Republican to defend except on the plea of necessity, which must always be the dernier resort of its advocates. And yet, no sooner do we see a State convention called than this question is lugged in, and a lot of patriots, ambitious to stand well with the President, begin pressing resolutions forward, not merely reciting that the measures adopted were forced on the Administration, and therefore excusable, but actually commending the overthrow of legal State governments, and indorsing the acts leading thereto as great measures of consummate statesmanship.—Inter-Ocean.

Decidedly the most amusing feature of the present political outlook is the concern which the "Independent" and Democratic papers profess lest Senator Blaine and the Maine and Iowa Republicans should hurt President Hayes's feelings. They are so indignant on behalf of this dear Mr. Hayes whom they tried to be so hard last November, that they can't endure that Mr. Blaine and the other Republicans who elected Mr. Hayes should take the liberty of differing in opinion with him. It is evident that they would like to see a law making it criminal to insult the President, passed by Congress and enforced vigorously in this country as it now is by MacMahon's agents against Republican journalists and orators in France.—Springfield Union.

FASHION'S TYRANNY. The New York Commercial thus refers to the tyranny of fashion:

Every woman met in the street goes along holding her dress with one hand. The lady descends from her carriage, makes a spasmodic dart at the hem of her garment, snatches it as a trout does a fly, and then stumbles into house or store. The shop girl, mincing along the avenues, twists her skirt about her ankles, displaying a petticoat, that in many cases would be improved by a judicious application of soap, water, and a washerwoman's muscle. And at the same time disclosing to the sight of man hosiery of the most pronounced and violent type. She smirks along with all the affectation of the fine lady. Even women with market baskets on their arms go tumbling along with dress up in one hand, and their day's dinner in the other. Of course it is an absurd fashion, but the only females who seem to be superior to it are the rag-pickers and other street scavengers who go about picking and scraping with skirts that only reach the ankle.

"ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO."

THE BENNINGTON CELEBRATION.

Arrival of the President.

A Great Concourse of People.

ADDRESS OF GOV. CONNOR.

The Beginning of Festivities—The Procession and Welcome Address.

BENNINGTON, Vt., Aug. 15. The procession moved this morning at 9.30, the order given in the printed order of the procession being observed. This was the most imposing procession ever seen in Vermont, but will probably be eclipsed by that of to-morrow. It was over three miles in length and numbered about 4,000 persons and was witnessed by 25,000 people. Noticeable points were the creditable marching of the 1st regiment, N. G., of Vermont; the appearance of Putnam's phalanx, composed of elderly gentlemen of Hartford, the soldierly appearance of the New Hampshire troops and Vermont veterans, etc. The latter drew cheers after cheer and the enthusiasm reached its climax when a body of 300 with a banner "Stark's Lamoille" made its appearance.

Arriving at the mammoth pavilion or tent on the Centennial fields, the address of welcome was delivered by Hon. E. J. Phelps, of Burlington, President of the Vermont Centennial Commission, after which he introduced the orator of the day, Hon. Daniel Roberts, of Burlington.

Other Speeches.

Mr. Phelps introduced as a representative of Connecticut ex-Governor Joseph R. Hawley, of Hartford, who spoke in an appropriate manner.

He was followed by General Banks, of Massachusetts, and Governor Chaney, of Maine.

The President's party were met according to programme. Upon their arrival at Bennington at 4 o'clock they were received with military honors and escorted to their quarters at the residence of Rev. J. H. Tibbetts, upon arrival of the train, Battery fired a salute. The President was welcomed with great enthusiasm by fully 40,000 people, and as he passed along the line cheer after cheer rent the air. Many banners were displayed with the words welcome to the President."

The President's Remarks.

He expressed his regrets that the sickness of the Chief Magistrate of the State of Massachusetts prevented his appearance for the Bay State; he had listened with much eloquence and such an admirable and poetic address that the remarks he (the president) should make would form a mere background for the illustration of those other and more interesting literary performances. They had heard the gentleman from Connecticut who brought the President was a fine State. He should judge that every Connecticut man came there from what he heard must have found an office. Now Hampshire is a fine State and the people are a fine people whether or not it is a good State to emigrate from. Hodder's think from what he heard that Vermont would have no difficulty much love for herself if New Hampshire could have and her wife. Massachusetts had in the early history of Vermont taken the part of the Green Mountain boys in their sorrows and troubles. He was very much learned in the facts of that portion of history, but he did not think that upon the roster of Vermont could be found a great number of Massachusetts men. He did not believe Massachusetts had ever claimed any portion of the Vermont territory. Nevertheless Massachusetts had a good name and its people are good.

Governor Connor's Address.

Governor Connor, of Maine was introduced and spoke as follows:

Vermont and Maine are the only two New England States that were not among those which established the Federal Union. So stands the record. The fact remains that Vermont was with them. If she was not of them; that one hundred years ago when the result of the contest for American Independence was wavering in the balance there was formed and declared a love of liberty which has never ceased to manifest its existence. It was one of those battles of liberty which was now being celebrated in this one hundredth birthday of Vermont with stirring memories and ceremonies.

Not the decrees of courts, nor the edicts of a King, nor the resolutions of Congress could prevent or defeat the efforts of this State that was struggling into being a century ago. It derived its sanction from a higher authority than these, that existed firmly upon the will of these people who knew their rights and knowing dared to maintain them. What a strange liberty was theirs struggling to protect themselves from a State which not only demanded their allegiance, but their lands and lands of foreign subjects. Bulgarian fastnesses leaving Plevna in large numbers for the Turkish line of attack on the place by the Turkish Daily expected.

Turks Defeated.

KADIKOI, Aug. 15. In the engagement Monday at Tripolky the Russians defeated the Turks and captured 5 cannon. Gourko has arrived within 3 hours' march of Tirnova. The Russians are retreating from Topolny, though they have been reinforced.

ATHENS, Aug. 15. Another field battery left for the frontier to-day.

It is rumored that Ignatieff has fallen into disgrace. The passage of Balkans is mainly resolved on in consequence of her assurance that anything might be ventured upon. The Russian government says it has been misled in certain other points concerning the state of things in Turkey.

A letter from Bucharest shows much discontent in Roumania at the passage of the Danube by the Roumanians.

A rumor from a Russian source asserts that Bulgaria while remaining a vassal of the Porte will be declared autonomous and placed under a Mussulman Prince.

Prince Hussoni son of the Khedive of Egypt, is spoken of as the future sovereign of Bulgaria. He was educated in Germany, and it is asserted the suggestion of his name as Prince of Bulgaria is regarded favorably at Berlin and will be supported at England.

Roumania.

Roumania aims at independence and would have attained her object without any sacrifices by remaining on the defensive, whereas in direct participation in the war endangers her future and exhausts her resources.

The Roumanians derive no pecuniary benefit from supplying provisions, etc. for the Russian army. The Russians can no longer pay in ready money, but in bonds payable three months after date.

Over the Danube.

SHUMLA, Aug. 15. The Russians yesterday completed the second bridge over the Danube at Pyrgos. Troops are now crossing. It is stated that a Turkish reconnoitering party found Kustendjye evacuated by the Russians.

Reports Unconfirmed.

LONDON, Aug. 15. The report published this morning that an alliance between Roumania and Servia had been concluded was probably imaginary. No movement against Turkey is likely to be effected at present. The information from Greece leads to the belief that there will be no action at present. Though there is considerable excitement and warlike enthusiasm in Athens the undercurrent of popular opinion favors armed observation.

WAR REPORTS AND RUMORS.

The Turkish army in province of Bagdad numbering 35000 has been summoned to Constantinople and will be replaced by militia.

A special despatch reports the Russians defeated at Jopko Monday, and that they lost 5 cannons instead of the Turks as previously reported.

A cable special says that during the Russian retreat from Kaloyer the heavy fire of the Turks exploded the powder magazine. The Russians lost 600 killed and 1200 wounded, principally by the explosion.

The reported mobilization of the whole Russian army is officially denied.

Two Russian batteries at Sistowa have been shelled Kustchuk Tuesday night, causing a conflagration which lasted until midnight.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

Dwelling Burned.

CALAIS, Aug. 15. A dwelling House in St. Stephen, N. B., owned by Mrs. was burned last night. Supposed incendiary; loss 61000, insured for 6000.

The officers of the Permanent International Exhibition at Philadelphia have decided that the Governors of all the States and Territories to visit there during the last week in August, and Capt. Wm. Flowers of this city and T. H. Dinsmore, of Skowhegan, have been appointed as the Reception Committee for Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Thompson of Camden, Maine, have been married for seventy years, and have had thirteen children, and with the exception of one who was drowned after he had arrived at maturity, all are still living. Mr. T. never employed a physician but once during his life and now resides on the same farm where he was born.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT. A few days since Mr. Samuel Holyoke, son of Joseph Holyoke of Brewer, met with a very painful accident. He was engaged at the time in pounding a piece of iron, and a small scale flew and embedded itself in the ball of his eye. After calling on several of our physicians, who examined the eye, he was advised to go to Boston and have an operation performed in order to save the sight of the other eye. Acting on this advice he started for Boston, where the eye was successfully removed, and he is now doing as well as could be expected.

DANFORTH. James Crosby, who was injured at Danforth, Tuesday, while assisting in raising a mill, died yesterday morning at eight o'clock. The accident happened at about three o'clock in the afternoon and it was also in the evening before they could procure a physician, as they were obliged to go to Houlton, a distance of about thirty-five miles. During all this time, although he was suffering untold agony, he retained his senses and talked very cheerfully to his family. He was a very industrious and faithful man, and his loss will be greatly felt by all who know him. He leaves a wife and three small children.

DEATH OF AN IMPOSTER. Many of our citizens will remember a man by the name of W. D. Delavin, whose true name was Thatcher, and who came to this city a number of years ago representing himself to be a Lieut. and Quartermaster. After renting a room he proceeded to paint a panorama of Aroostook, which eventually proved to be a worthless daub, and after making an attempt to exhibit it in this city which proved unsuccessful, he left the city in disgust, and returned to Presque Isle, where he began to pay attention to a Miss Smith's daughter. He finally ran off with the girl, but her father pursued and succeeded in overtaking them before they were married, and insisted that he should return home with him; as he told that his daughter should never see him more. The daughter hoping to remedy matters, informed her parent Mr. Delavan was another dear one, but could talk as well as anyone. Being escorted to his room a lively conversation ensued between the artist and blacksmith after which the three retired to Presque Isle. The couple were speedily married, but not until the real beau made acquainted with the character of the artist against whom Delavan's deaf and dumb child was born. Delavan, a deaf mute, died in San Francisco the other evening. He was about 50 years of age and had been deaf and dumb since he was a child. A few hours before his death his power of speech was restored, and he was enabled to converse audibly with those about him.

HOW INFINITELY SUPERIOR is the fragrant and wholesome SOZODONT to the gritty tooth powders and elemental fluids formerly used upon teeth! But which abraded and corroded the enamel and induced decay. The SOZODONT, on the contrary, preserves, at the same time that it beautifies, the teeth.

Its result is astonishing, and sure relief is guaranteed in every case, where it is used as directed. It assists digestion, tones up the stomach, strengthens the debilitated, restores a natural appetite, and as a liver regulator has no equal. A clergyman of Philadelphia says: It is the very fountain of health. To all who are suffering from a disordered stomach or liver, or who need a gentle Spring or Summer tonic, we say try it, and you will thank us for the advice. Trial size 25 cents. Sold by Wm. E. Mann, J. F. Patten, N. S. Harlow & Bangor. R. B. Stover, Bucksport.

Also Agents for Prof. Parker's Pleasant Worm Syrup, which is sure death to worms. Pleasant to take, and requires no physic. Price 25 cents. Try it.

MANY who are suffering from the effects of the warm weather and are debilitated, are advised by physicians to take moderate amounts of whisky two or three times during the day. In a little while those who adopt this advice, frequently increase the number of "drinks," and in time become confirmed inebriates. A beverage which will not create thirst for intoxicating liquors, and which is intended especially for the benefit of debilitated persons, whether at home or abroad, is Dr. Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic. Containing the juices of many medicinal herbs, this preparation does not create an appetite for the intoxicating cup. The nourishing and the life-supporting properties of many valuable natural productions contained in it and well known to medical men have a most strengthening influence. A single bottle of the Tonic will demonstrate its valuable qualities. For debility arising from sickness, over exertion or from any cause whatever, a wineglassful of Sea Weed Tonic taken after meals will strengthen the stomach and create an appetite for wholesome food. To all who are about leaving their homes, we desire to say that the excellent effects of Dr. Schenck's pleasonable remedies, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, are particularly evident when taken by those who are injuriously affected by a change of water and diet. No person should leave home without taking a supply of these safeguards along. For sale by all druggists.

THE PATTERN WIFE

Solomon certainly was a very wise man, as I said at dinner, and his talk a description of a pattern wife hard to beat, yet I have in my mind's eye a modern wife, my friend Mrs. John Smith, who, I'd wager a silver thimble, would have been a model to the very best of Solomon's whole seven hundred. The lady of the old time came to have had a smooth sea and fair sailing. For instance "when she considereth a field and buyeth it," we are not told that her husband puts a stop to certain speculations by insisting that he can make a better investment of the money, and when with the fruit of her hand she planteth a vineyard," we have no intimation that he orders it to be plowed up for a potato field. Now with Mrs. John Smith—just as her husband puts a stop to certain speculations by insisting that he can make a better investment of the money, and when with the fruit of her hand she planteth a vineyard," we have no intimation that he orders it to be plowed up for a potato field. Now with Mrs. John Smith—just as her husband undertakes any such specalist one [illegible] ch wife [illegible] yet [illegible]—so does Mrs. Smith, and that matter is comfortable sleep, but after rocking and walking the floor with a sick baby till three in the morning, and with it having once called upon Mr. Smith to take his turn, with a fine front he was quite as strong as she was and that the baby was as much his as hers, but on the contrary, making the agreeable suggestion that he had better go into the spare room, where there was only a couple of feet to stumble over, and strengthen his mind by reflecting that there were soft pillows on the bed, and pillows to the lounge.

She brings all her food from afar—so does Mrs. Smith. After calling up her two maids, she sets one to work on the parlors, and tells the other to get breakfast, and then dress the other children, and gives all the other maids to understand, in quiet of a shilling a week. Mrs. Smith making it a point to have a full staff, for the first, and repudiating anything but underlings, which servants—as have Mr. Smith's servants—can never get anything done when they go done.

She gathers her forces with strength and strength, then [illegible] Mr. Smith rises to go to [illegible]. Therefore he never comes in one of those early in the morning expeditions, and of course only [illegible] but wonderfully [illegible] pretty much the only opportunity of [illegible] the [illegible] down, and [illegible] breakfast—by the [illegible] of the [illegible] door. Also upon the children's [illegible] throat, [illegible] and [illegible] Mr. Smith would be perfectly still and [illegible] to obey the [illegible] set [illegible] never [illegible] gave [illegible] weighed indeed—only that Mr. Smith's specimens [illegible] about [illegible].

She appeals her manifold wiles [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] as the law of kindness. When Mrs. Smith comes home from market and meets her husband just going out to the barber's, having discovered that, according to [illegible] costs as much as the [illegible] to—though she does [illegible] up the Dump morning, your [illegible] and spoils his pocket for [illegible] keeping until return, because to beaver likes to have [illegible] one untold [illegible] before himself, he does not observe that he must keep himself [illegible] trouble, and she has, no matter [illegible] papers, goodness knows! she only [illegible] sweetly and hopes she has had a good night's rest. Also not only controlling her tongue but her whole body with wisdom, when [illegible] finding the small, sprawling one in nursery floor, asleep, and more of the children up, she has busied herself without foot on the crib rocker to comb and brush five little heads and to fasten a gross of buttons, and bolts of strings and straightened [illegible] fire [illegible] in her collars when [illegible] the [illegible] going down Mr. Smith hails her with [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
